

Dynamo Elite

PC Edition

Retroarch
Emulation Station

Dynamo Elite - PC Edition

Overview

An easy to use, easy to setup, Windows based build using Emulation Station.

Utilizing Emulation Station as the front end ... and directly launching Retroarch ... makes setup simple and quick.

Simply unzip and place the EmulationStation folder onto the root of any HDD (internal or external) or USB drive.

Emulation Station is setup with relative path configuration which makes it a portable installation. No matter what drive letter Windows assigns the HDD/USB drive, Dynamo Elite will just work.

Easy Setup

Once extracted, you'll need to setup controllers within Retroarch first.

After that, launch Emulation Station (either full screen or windowed mode) and then setup controls for GUI navigation.

By default, both Retroarch and Emulation Station are setup for keyboard navigation. See below for default mapping.

Note:

There are some hidden folders and files in the EmulationStation directory. Make sure you adjust your Windows Explorer to show hidden files/folders.

You must install the Microsoft Visual C++ 2013 x86 Redistributable to run Emulation Station. You may have to install both the x86 and x64 bit versions.

You can find it here:

Windows Files\MS Visual C\2013

You may have to install DirectX also.

D:\Windows Files\Direct X Setup

Dynamo Elite - PC Edition

1. Installation and Configuration

Step 1: Unzip/Extract and put the folders in the "root" of any existing HDD

The Dynamo Elite PC build is configured in such a way as to be "relative path".

This means everything will work regardless of what drive letter Windows assigns the HDD.

To make this work, the base folder needs to be located at the "root" of the HDD.

Here is a quick example of the folder structure using Z drive as the HDD assignment.

Example:

Z:
|
|--EmulationStation
|   |
|   |--Launch *.BAT files (either full screen or windowed mode)
|   |
|   |--.emulationstation    NOTE: this is a hidden folder
|   |   |
|   |   |--es_systems.cfg    ES system configuration file
|   |   |
|   |   |--emulators
|   |   |   |--RetroArch    Using version 1.7.6
|   |   |
|   |   |--roms
|   |   |   |--arcade
|   |   |   |   |--boxart
|   |   |   |   |--snap
|   |   |   |   |--wheel
|   |   |   |   |--{rom}.zip
|   |   |   |   |--{rom}.zip
|   |   |   |   |--etc, etc
|   |   |   |--atari2600
|   |   |   |   |--boxart
|   |   |   |   |--snap
|   |   |   |   |--wheel

Step 2: Bind controls within RetroArch

This needs to be done just once (unless you change controllers in the future).

1: using Windows Explorer, navigate to this folder

(drive letter):\EmulationStation\emulationstation\emulators\retroarch

2: launch RetroArch emulator by double clicking on this exe file

retroarch.exe

This will launch the RetroArch GUI.

By default, the keyboard is configured to navigate the GUI.

enter key	- select
backspace key	- back
Arrow Keys	- navigation
exit key	- quit

After launching RetroArch, follow these steps.

1. press the right arrow key
2. press the down arrow key to highlight "Input"
3. press the enter key to select
4. press the down arrow key to highlight "Input User 1 Binds"
5. scroll down and highlight "User 1 Bind All"
6. press the enter key when ready

Follow the prompts and assign your controller/gamepad buttons however you wish. If you do not have enough buttons to assign, the program will wait a few seconds and then move on.

You can repeat this procedure as many times as needed if you mess up or need to redo it.

Perform the same steps above, but choose "Input User 2 Binds" to assign the second controller/gamepad.

Also make sure to bind the HotKeys as well.

Enable Hotkeys:	bind to "SELECT" button
Quit Retroarch:	bind to "START"

Back out to the main Retroarch menu, choose Configurations > Save New Configuration. This will save your changes.

You can now exit out of RetroArch.

Dynamo Elite - PC Edition

Step 3: Bind controls within Emulation Station

This needs to be done just once (unless you change controllers in the future).

1: using Windows Explorer, navigate to this folder

(drive letter):\EmulationStation\

2: launch Emulation Station by double clicking on the appropriate *.bat file

There are two *.bat files to launch with.

Launch Portable (Fullscreen).bat	— launches ES in full screen
Launch Portable (Windowed).bat	— launches ES in a window

By default, a keyboard is required.

A	- a button
B	- b button
ENTER	- start button
SPACE	- select button

Press ENTER to bring up the ES GUI. Use the arrow keys to navigate to Configure Controller and press A.

Bind a gamepad.

If you don't have all of the asked button inputs, just press your "A" button to skip that assignment.

Step 4: Play!

That's it! You're done!

Now, navigate to any system with Emulation Station and press the "A" button to enter it and the "B" button to back out to the main menu.

Press the "A" button on any game to launch it.

To exit a game, press your "SELECT" and "START" button simultaneously to return to Emulation Station.

Dynamo Elite - PC Edition

Extra Information

The Dynamo Elite PC Edition is setup for 32 systems with 25 games from each (except MAME has 100 and PSX 50).

The Top 25 games were chosen using a variety of sources and other lists that have been created over time.

While not everyone's favorite game will be included, best efforts were made to get the most popular games from each system included.

This provides (we hope) a well rounded top games selection from the various included systems.

The Dynamo Elite PC Edition build is intended to represent a "mini arcade - mini console - mini handheld" collection and isn't meant for "rom hoarders/collectors".

Additional games can always be added - but to make it work and flow like the others, additional media is required.

The individual media items are located in subfolders for each system in the "roms" directory:

boxart - this is the PNG background used for each game

snap - this is the MP4 game video for each game wheel - this is the wheel art shown on the main menu

each game PNG file is identical (since it shows the system itself not the individual game logo)

The Arcade system is using MAME 2003 as it's romset.
